A big city is also a place where opportunities are open, many come to seize the opportunity. Developing a city is not an easy thing; a very long process to achieve success. There are many games on the theme of city building that are launched by players to experience. But have you ever seen a house building on the island? If not, it is because you have not come to the game My City: Island to experience. This game makes the player a leader of the city island. This island was called Kakau Island! The Pacific is a great sea with many islands, but there is only one island with the appearance of the city, Kakau. A long time ago, Kakau was the most successful island in four oceans, and it was the land of many people's dreams. A lot of people have given up living on the mainland to move here. But the Pacific Is also a very dangerous place with so many earthquakes that can destroy islands. It seemed that the tremors would not reach Kakau, so many people would choose to live here. But they were wrong on a typical day as usual when people were still going out to do what they had to do, the earthquake struck. Build famous landmarks in my city! This earthquake was not a small-scale earthquake, but an extremely large, large enough to destroy all the buildings on Kakau Island. Fortunately, people were immediately evacuated, so there were no casualties, but the island was no longer ideal for living. Years later, when everything is back to normal, then again decide to go to Kakau to restore the city. It's very dangerous because in the past it had a major earthquake that destroyed everything. Those warnings didn't stop the player, they decided to go to this town to build. The city's exploration this island has long been abandoned and all buildings have long been destroyed. So the rest of the vestiges that life has destroyed structures, and if not renovated, it's impossible to live. So when you come here to start building, the player has to find a way to fix this island. First, the player must remove the stones and large trees that grow when you are trying to build. They must be cut and transported to form clearing and structures. This job also consumes a lot of time to finish. Build your city true to your original goal if you decide to go to this island, building new buildings to restore vitality to the island hefty. So when everything is harvested, it's ready to start building the first buildings. The first thing that needs to be done is housing for people who come to live here; The more houses are built, the more people come here. Once the population has reached a certain threshold, the player must do things to meet the needs of the people. For example, there are restaurants for entertainment, cinemas, parks, and many other things. There are many types of restaurants, such as Chinese restaurants, Italian restaurants, and many other places to choose from. But if there is is one thing players need to care about how to move between buildings. Players need to invest money to build more roads for people to move around. The expansion to other islands in the Pacific region is not only one island, but also many islands that are located nearby to explore. Players can spend a lot of money to open other islands and build civilizations there. But to do that, it takes players a lot of money and time to build a new city. Besides, when everything is finished, you also need to build a bridge to connect the islands, and people can travel to many different islands.
